RSV Completes Construction on New Beaches Restaurant at the Portland Airport

VANCOUVER, Wash. – Today, RSV Building Solutions, a Vancouver-based construction company that specializes in restaurant remodeling and construction, will officially hand over the keys to Beaches Restaurant located just across the Columbia River at the Portland International Airport with the completion of the second and final phase of construction.

“We selected the RSV team because of their commitment to quality, the personal interest they take in the success of the project, and their community involvement.” said Beaches Owner Mark Mathias. “They’re pros who not only listen, but also provide insight and expertise to ensure that the final product matches our vision.”

In three short months, RSV was able to complete both of the two phases of construction. The first phase included the construction of a takeout area, which opened before the main restaurant.

“I could not be more pleased with the final outcome of this project.” said Ron Frederiksen, president of RSV Building Solutions. “It is truly a delight to be a part of the growth and success of such a well-respected local business like Beaches.”

In addition to Beaches, RSV has worked for such restaurant clients as The Holland (owners and operators of Burgerville), Costa Vida Fresh Mexican Grill, Le Hana Japanese Grill, Boston’s Gourmet Pizza and Pizza Schmizza, to name a few.

The new Beaches Restaurant took over the space previously occupied by the Rose City Café and Pendleton, which has been completely remodeled to reflect a tropical theme including the use of bamboo, weathered woods, wood pilings, rustic metal and a sandy beach scene complete with a full size hot rod. The 6,800-plus-square-foot space has seating for 174 guests, dedicated space for take-out orders and a retail sales area for Beaches branded products.

Other members of the design-build team include Architects Associative, Bargreen-Ellingson, DelStar Electric and Jason Prouty of Garage 31 Custom Painting.
